

A Guide to Eternal Passion

The sanctity of marriage is always giving and always forgiving. You can't determine the outcome of what the day will bring, but you can choose how it will end. The steps below will give you a guide on how to keep the passion in your life. As simple as these steps may seem to be, they are very important in maintaining a strong and healthy relationship to nourish the desires that you have for one another and never lose it. Marriage is a rainbow of beauty. Every decision is by choice!

1. Worship together – A family that prays together stays together. Your spiritual lifestyle as one is the root to your strength in marriage.
2. Laughter – It is the best medicine. Have fun.
3. Date Nights – Always date each other. Set the mood. Make time for your marriage, you will be working on it the rest of your life.
4. Sharing – To know what each other's likes and dislikes are. Talk to one another. Share yourself.

5. Be spontaneous – It's those spur of the moments that will change your outlook for the day. If you are too rigid you will miss out on some exceptional moments with one another.
6. Take a break from one another once in a while – Go to lunch with your girlfriends and play a little basketball with the fellows. Absence does make the heart grow fonder.
7. Be playful – Giggle a little bit. Let the "child you" come out sometimes.
8. Grow together – Be interested in one another's passions and desires. Support each other always.
9. Nourish your curiosity and enthusiasm – Be willing to try new things and communicate to each other how it makes you feel.
10. Be intentional – Cause one another to smile. Love in spite of the circumstance. Only you together can overcome the many obstacles that will come your way. It's all about the way you choose to handle it. Never give up.

ALWAYS TOGETHER
